MESSAGE FROM THE LEADERSHIP

Dear Students,

Every day is a new chance to learn, grow, and move closer to your dreams. University life may be demanding but remember—you are capable of achieving far more than you think. Challenges are not roadblocks; they are stepping stones that shape your strength, character, and determination. Believe in your potential, stay curious, and don't fear failure—it's a part of learning. Surround yourself with positivity, stay focused, and always be kind to yourself. You don't have to be perfect; you just must keep moving forward. The Office of Student Welfare is always here to support and cheer you on. Your journey matters, and every small step you take counts. So, stay inspired, stay motivated, and never stop believing in yourself.

You've got this!

Warm wishes,

Prof. (Dr) Anjana Singh

FROM THE DEAN'S DESK

Dear Readers,

It's truly a privilege to connect with you through the pages of our quarterly law magazine. As Dean of the School of Legal Studies, I always look forward to this opportunity to reflect on our collective journey and celebrate the incredible spirit and achievements that define our community. This past quarter has been nothing short of inspiring, a vibrant testament to the dedication that fill every corner of our school. When I walk through the halls, I don't just see students and faculty; I see a dynamic ecosystem of learning, growth, and unwavering commitment to the pursuit of justice. This quarter, we saw a remarkable number of students achieve Dean's Honors, a clear indication of their consistent hard work and exceptional understanding of challenging legal concepts. Beyond the grades, what truly stands out is the intellectual curiosity many of you exhibit, critically analysing statutes and proposing innovative solutions to societal problems. A special mention must go to our Moot Court teams. The sheer dedication involved in preparing for these competitions is astounding. Hours upon hours are spent researching intricate legal precedents, crafting persuasive arguments, and refining delivery. This quarter, our teams participated in several prestigious national and international moot court competitions, consistently reaching advanced rounds and bringing home accolades. These successes aren't just about winning; they are about honing crucial advocacy skills, learning to think on your feet, and developing resilience.

While academic rigor is paramount, a holistic legal education extends far beyond the classroom. Our students have truly embraced this philosophy, making significant strides in a wide array of co-curricular activities that enrich their understanding of the law and their roles as future legal professionals. I would be remiss if I did not acknowledge the incredible work of our faculty members. Their commitment to guiding and nurturing our students is truly commendable. Each professor brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the classroom, fostering an environment where students feel encouraged to explore and grow. The mentorship provided by our faculty extends beyond academics; they are genuinely invested in your personal and professional development. Whether through one-on-one meetings or informal discussions, our faculty members are always available to support you on your journey.

As we look forward to the next quarter, I encourage all of you to continue striving for excellence in all your endeavours.

Best Wishes,

Prof. (Dr) Kaveri Sharma

Dean, School of Legal Studies

MESSAGE FROM CHAIR PROFESSOR, MOTILAL NEHRU CHAIR

It is a matter of great pride to contribute to the inaugural edition of Lex Patrika, the quarterly newsletter of the School of Legal Studies. This platform offers a vibrant space for students, faculty, and scholars to showcase their research, share literary and academic insights, and highlight achievements and activities within the school.

Lex Patrika is envisioned as a forum where legal professionals, academicians, and students can come together to share perspectives, research, and critical analysis on a wide range of legal topics. It reflects our shared commitment to promoting thoughtful dialogue and advancing the study of law. The articles featured in this first edition reflect the depth and diversity of contemporary legal issues—ranging from bold discussions on constitutional law to innovative takes on emerging legal trends. The contributions stand as a testament to the intellectual energy and academic curiosity of our community.

Importantly, Lex Patrika also serves as a bridge to our valued alumni, keeping them connected and involved by providing a platform to share their experiences, achievements, and insights. Their journeys not only enrich our broader community but also inspire our current students by highlighting the varied paths a legal career can take.

As we proudly present this issue (January - March 2025), I encourage all readers to engage with the content, share their thoughts, and contribute to the conversations it sparks. Your feedback and participation are vital to the continued growth and success of this newsletter.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to all our contributors for their dedication and scholarly efforts. I also appreciate the editorial team and everyone at the School of Legal Studies whose hard work and attention to detail brought Lex Patrika to life.

Wishing Lex Patrika great success and lasting impact in shaping the next generation of legal minds.

Thank you, and best wishes to all!

COMMUNITY CONNECT: LEGAL AID ACTIVITIES

LEGAL AWARENESS CAMP ON MOBILE LEGAL AID THROUGH NYAY BANDHU APPLICATION: 6TH AND 7TH FEBRUARY 2025

Nukkad Natak by SOLS students as an awareness drive

In a significant step toward strengthening access to justice through technology, a two-day Legal Awareness Camp was organized on 6th and 7th February 2025 focusing on the Nyaya Bandhu (Pro Bono Legal Services) mobile application. The camp aimed at spreading awareness about the Government of India's innovative digital platform designed to connect citizens in need of legal assistance with pro bono advocates across the country. The camp was conducted by faculty members and law student volunteers who demonstrated the functionality, benefits, and registration process of the Nyaya Bandhu mobile application. The primary objective was to empower the community with knowledge of how to seek legal help remotely and effectively, especially in rural and underserved areas.

Key features of the camp included:

- Live demonstrations of the Nyaya Bandhu app's interface and registration process.

- One-on-one assistance to participants in downloading and navigating the app.
- Awareness sessions on how pro bono legal services work and who can avail them.
- Interactive discussions on legal rights, digital legal literacy, and government schemes related to free legal aid.

The camp saw active participation from local residents, students, women, senior citizens, and self-help groups, many of whom expressed appreciation for the initiative and showed interest in availing the services of the app. It also served as a practical learning opportunity for law students to engage in community legal education and digital inclusion efforts. The initiative reflects the institution's continuous endeavor to bridge the digital divide in legal aid delivery and promote inclusive justice by leveraging technology.

LEGAL AWARENESS CAMP AGAINST CHILD ABUSE: 7TH FEBRUARY 2025

Dr. Megha Garg, Assistant Professor, SOLS, addressing the students

On 7th February 2025, a Legal Awareness Camp Against Child Abuse was organized with the aim of sensitizing the community about the legal rights of children and the urgent need to combat child abuse in all its forms. The camp focused on creating awareness about child protection laws and mechanisms available under Indian law to safeguard children from abuse, exploitation, and neglect.

The event was facilitated by faculty members, legal experts, and student volunteers, who addressed a diverse audience including school students, parents, teachers, and community members. Special emphasis was placed on educating participants about the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, and the role of Child Welfare Committees (CWCs).

Highlights of the camp included:

- Interactive sessions on identifying and reporting child abuse.

- Role-playing and skits performed by students to demonstrate real-life scenarios.
- Distribution of awareness booklets and helpline information.
- Discussions on the importance of safe environments at home, school, and online.

The session empowered attendees with practical knowledge on how to report abuse, the importance of early intervention, and the support systems available for victims. Children were encouraged to speak up without fear, while parents and educators were guided on their legal and moral responsibilities toward child safety.

This camp was a vital step in promoting a child-friendly and legally aware society, reaffirming the institution's commitment to child rights advocacy and legal literacy at the grassroots level.

MEGA LEGAL AID AND PRO BONO CAMP: 17TH FEBRUARY 2025

Dr. Megha Garg, Assistant Professor, SOLS, addressing the students

On 17th February 2025, a Legal Awareness Camp Against Child Abuse was organized with the aim of sensitizing the community about the legal rights of children and the urgent need to combat child abuse in all its forms. The camp focused on creating awareness about child protection laws and mechanisms available under Indian law to safeguard children from abuse, exploitation, and neglect.

The event was facilitated by faculty members, legal experts, and student volunteers, who addressed a diverse audience including school students, parents, teachers, and community members. Special emphasis was placed on educating participants about the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, and the role of Child Welfare Committees (CWCs).

Highlights of the camp included

This camp was a vital step in promoting a child-friendly and legally aware society, reaffirming the institution's commitment to child rights advocacy and legal literacy at the grassroots level.

CLIENT COUNSELING COMPETITION: 27TH FEBRUARY AND 19TH MARCH 2025

To promote practical legal skills and enhance interpersonal communication abilities among budding law professionals, the institution organized a Client Counselling Competition in two phases on 27th February 2025 (Preliminary Round) and 19th March 2025 (Final Round). The event aimed to simulate real-world legal consultations, allowing students to develop crucial skills in client interaction, legal analysis, and ethical advocacy. The competition provided a platform for participants to step into the role of legal advisors and demonstrate their ability to listen attentively, identify legal issues, communicate effectively, and offer appropriate legal solutions—all while maintaining professional decorum and sensitivity toward clients.

Key Features of the Competition:

Participants were presented with simulated client scenarios involving civil, criminal, family, and consumer law matters.

Judging was based on parameters such as listening skills, clarity of communication, legal knowledge, empathy, and ethical considerations. A panel of experienced legal professionals and faculty members served as judges and evaluators. The competition encouraged teamwork, as students participated in pairs to mirror real legal counselling sessions.

The first round, held on 27th February, featured a preliminary screening, while the final round on 19th March showcased top teams engaging in advanced, complex scenarios. The event was marked by enthusiastic participation from students across all semesters and highlighted the importance of client-centered legal practice in modern legal education.

Through this initiative, students gained invaluable exposure to the realities of legal practice, including client confidentiality, professional conduct, and legal ethics, reinforcing the institution's commitment to experiential learning and holistic legal training.

Vaibhav Joshi, LLB 6th Semester

Vaibhav Joshi from K.R. Mangalam University, Gurugram, made us proud by participating in the 14th edition of the Amity International Model United Nations 2025 (AMIMUN'25) held from 17th to 19th January at Amity University, Uttar Pradesh. Representing Turkey in the International Court of Justice (ICJ), Vaibhav showcased remarkable insight into global legal issues and diplomacy. His contribution added great value to the discussions and reflected a deep understanding of international affairs.

3. Vaibhav Joshi, LLB 6th Semester

Vaibhav Joshi recently participated in “SHER”, a creative expression event held during COSMICA 2025 — the annual cultural fest of NIIT University, Neemrana, from 4th to 6th April 2025. With his performance, Vaibhav brought powerful storytelling and poetic flair to the stage, making a memorable impression on everyone present. His active involvement in such cultural platforms reflects not only his confidence and creativity but also his commitment to exploring new experiences beyond the classroom.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

It feels like just yesterday I was sitting in the back benches of the lecture hall, scribbling notes, chasing case laws, and dreaming about the courtroom. To the students reading this, welcome to the world of law. It is not just a profession. It is a quiet calling. The law demands more than intellect. It asks for integrity, patience, and a strong sense of justice. At times it will test your spirit. But it will also shape you in ways you never imagined. In the corridors of this School, I learned more than just legal theory. I learned how to think, how to question, and most importantly, how to stand up for what is right. The friendships I made here, the mentorship I received, and the values instilled in me have followed me long after I left the campus. Take your time here seriously. Read more than what is required. Argue kindly. Listen deeply. And remember, your name will carry weight not just by the position you hold but by the truth you defend.

Akash Godara

Alumnus, School of Legal Studies

Stepping into the vibrant corridors of K.R. Mangalam University was like walking into a new chapter of growth, courage and transformation. Over the past year, my LL.M. journey here has been more than just an academic pursuit it has been a soulful exploration of who I am and what I aspire to be. The environment at K.R. Mangalam University nurtured my ambition of becoming an educator, a mentor, and a changemaker in the legal field. From thought provoking classroom discussions to sleepless nights crafting research papers, every moment was a stepping stone toward becoming a more confident and compassionate version of myself. The guidance of dedicated faculty, exposure to real-world legal challenges, and the constant push to question and explore have redefined my outlook not just as a student, but as a human being. K.R. Mangalam University didn't just teach me law it taught me resilience, critical thinking, and the strength to stand for what's right, even when it's hard. To the students who are just beginning their journeys here soak it all in. Say yes to opportunities. Speak up, fall, get up, and never stop questioning. Because somewhere along the way, you'll not only earn a degree but you'll discover your voice as well.
